

been a big drawing card ever since they opened several weeks ago. Dispatches from London say that Evelyn is booked for Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Copenhagen and other European capitals after she finishes in the British metropolis.

Mrs. Thaw is reported to have grown thinner of late. She took on considerable embonpoint during the first few years after she faded out of the limelight. Perhaps her dancing has had something to do with the return of her girlish figure. The dance she does with Clifford is reported to be exceedingly strenuous.

If she really is to appear on the stage in this country, Mrs. Thaw must be given credit for doing some good press agent work for herself in advance of her trip.

She recently gave out an interview in which she asserted that she was going to ask an annulment of her marriage to Thaw and would enforce whatever financial demands she might have to make through her little son, of whom, she declares, Harry Thaw is the father.

Evelyn now calls herself Miss Nesbit. She is living in London with Theodora Gerard, an actress who has had a great deal of publicity in New York and who is also appearing at the Hippodrome.

BULL POUTS' SONGS WRECK REST OF UNMUSICAL HUMANS

Radall

Bellevue, O., July 11.—Their vanity ungratified by several vaudeville offers which have been extended to the singing fish of Bellevue, O., the residents of that town continue in their protests against the nightly warbling of subterranean bull pout. These cultured fish live in underground streams and come to the surface of cisterns and pools to sing. As yet they have not taken up ragtime or cabaret music, but chant what is described as a sweet, haunting melody. Angry and unmusical citizens are meeting to discuss ways and means of giving these irritating vocalists the hook.

TEST OF GREATNESS

"Was Alexander great, papa?
My teacher told us so."
"Well, Willie, dear," his pa replied,
"Not so far as I know.
At least he hasn't done stunts for
The moving picture show."
